FOR PRESIDENT,
JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE,
OF KENTUCKY.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
GENERAL JOSEPH LANE,
OF OREGON.

"The Constitution and the equality of the States. These are symbols of everlasting life of the people."—John C. Breckinridge.

"Instead of breaking up the Union, we intend its strength and to lengthen it."—John C. Breckinridge.

"We know no section as distinct from the other; we know the Constitution and the States under it, and their rights as guaranteed under that instrument."—JOSEPH LANE.

"The friends of the constitutional equality do not and never did call for 'the continual slave code' nor any other code in regard to property in the Territories. They held the doctrine of non-intervention by Congress or by a Territorial Legislature either to establish or prohibit slavery, but did assert that the Territories had the right to do as they pleased in all the departments of the Federal Government, in all its departments, to secure, when necessary, to the citizens of all the States, the enjoyment of their property in the common Territories, as everywhere else within its jurisdiction."—JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.

TUESDAY.....AUGUST 7, 1860

We respectfully request the Clerks of the different County Courts to send us, as soon as they can after the election, the vote of their respective counties for Judge of the Court of Appeals in the First District; Clerk of the Court Appeals; Sheriff, &c., giving the full names and politics of the several candidates. In return for their kindness in doing so, we will forward to each one who sends us the vote, a paper containing the official vote showing the result in the entire State.

MISSOURI.

CANDIDATES FOR CONGRESS.—The following are the candidates for Congress from the several districts of Missouri:

First District—To fill vacancy—Francis P. Blair, Jr., Republican; J. Richard Barrett, Democrat. For the long term—Francis P. Blair, Republican; J. Richard Barrett, Democrat; Alonzo Todd, Bel.

Second District—J. A. Rollins, Bell; John B. Henderson, Douglas.

Third District—M. C. Hawkins, Bell; John B. Clark, present member; Douglas; R. H. Mercer, Breckinridge.

Fourth District—H. B. Branch, Republican; John Scott, Bell; Elijah H. Norton, Douglas; R. L. Y. Preston, Breckinridge.

Fifth District—Thomas C. Staples, Republican; Rev. F. T. Mitchell, Bell; John W. Reid, Breckinridge.

Sixth District—James S. Rains, Bell; John S. Phelps, (present member); Douglas; C. W. Price, Breckinridge.

Seventh District—John W. Noell, (present member); Douglas; Charles Jones, Breckinridge.

Franklin County.

The following is the full vote of the two precincts in Frankfort at the close of the polls yesterday evening:

| | State House. |
|----------------------------|--------------|
| Combs..... | 147 |
| Morriston..... | 100 |
| Bolling..... | 30 |
| Hopkins..... | 1 |
| COUNTY ATTORNEY..... | 1 |
| Sned..... | 111 |
| Morris..... | 5 |
| SHERIFF..... | 5 |
| Todd..... | 109 |
| COL. ENROLLED MILITIA..... | 109 |
| Monroe..... | 106 |
| Hawkins..... | 13 |
| LIEUT. COLONEL..... | 13 |
| Withrow..... | 55 |
| Hefner..... | 61 |
| SCHOOL TAX..... | 106 |
| Against School Tax..... | 46 |

The reported majorities in the county are for Combs, the Frankfort precincts 117, and Peaks' Mill 57—for McCarty, Bridgeport 37; Forks of Elkton 30, and Bald Knob 110. Ten or twelve votes will cover the majority either way.

The telegraphic returns received here last night look decidedly unfavorable to the Democracy. They are from points, however, where we expected heavy losses. We have not seen enough yet to form a clear idea of the result, but McCarty's chances are the best, and we believe he is elected by a scratch.

OUR TICKET.—The Opposition North and South delight to attribute the nomination of Mr. Breckinridge to the influence of Mr. Yancey. The records of the Convention show very conclusively that Mr. Breckinridge was not the choice of the Alabama delegation. That delegation put Mr. Hunter in nomination after Mr. Breckinridge had been placed in nomination by Mr. Loring, of Massachusetts, seconded by the Pennsylvania delegation. It is true that all the States in the Convention voted for the nomination when it was made unanimous.

A POPULAR CANDIDATE.—In 1843, Mr. Hershel V. Johnson, the Douglas non-intervention slave code candidate for Vice President, was a candidate for Congress in one of the districts of Georgia against A. H. Stephens, and was badly beaten by him. In 1853 he was the Democratic candidate for Governor in the same State, and was elected by only 510 majority, though the Democrats had over 18,000 majority the year before.

CAMPAGN MEDALS.—Messrs. J. L. Drake & Co., No. 11, West Fourth street, Cincinnati, have done us the favor to send us a specimen of a beautiful Campaign Medal which they are selling at a low price. The medal is beautiful, upon one side bearing a correct Melanotype likeness of Mr. Breckinridge, and upon the other that of General Lane. Specimens may be obtained by sending to Messrs. Drake & Co. nine three cent stamps.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?—The Chicago Times, the home organ of Mr. Douglas, is no more. The proprietor of the Chicago Herald has bought out the concern, and consolidated the two papers. Mr. Sheahan, the editor of the Times, and the biographer of Mr. Douglas, retires into private life.

The proprietor of the consolidated concern, Mr. H. H. McCormick, the inventor of the reaping machine, says he shall support Douglass and adds:

But while doing so, I cannot submit to that test of my sincerity which requires me to denounce the great body of the Southern Democracy as unchristian. This I know to be untrue, and no consideration can induce me to sanction it.

Ex-President Pierce has received the degree of "LL. D." from Dartmouth College, New Hampshire.

MURDER.—Martins Patton shot and killed Joseph Clem, on Brush creek, Powell county, on Saturday week. Particulars unknown. Clem killed a brother of Patton a year or two ago.

A special dispatch to Washington City contradicts the rumor that Gov. Letcher, of Virginia, has declared for Douglas. He has not done so, and will not.

STOP THERE!—We invite the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. Hall & Harris, Proprietors of the "United States Hotel." We have stopped at this house and know it to be a good one by experience.

John Bell and Disunion.
The following from the Maysville Express we give the prominence of editorial type.

The charge that Breckinridge is a disunion candidate, is constantly rung in our ears. The policy of the Opposition seems to be to induce men to believe this lie by its constant repetition.

Now we challenge our opponents to produce a syllable from either the pen or lips of John C. Breckinridge favoring a dissolution of the Union. It cannot be done. That true and fast friend of the Union has not allowed the word disunion to soil his lips—has not allowed himself to either calculate the value of the Union, or to admit the possibility in any contingency.

Can the friends of John Bell say as much for him? They can not. He has allowed himself to prate of disunion—to imagine and state cases in which its dissolution would be justifiable and proper. In a speech delivered 13th of March, 1858, he said:

"When I suppose there are none of us who are not satisfied that, on the subject of the tariff, there ought to be material changes. How is it? The collectors of your ports are becoming rich; your government is becoming poor. Is it not time that we should establish a home valuation upon every article that is brought into the country, so that we may prevent fraud? Is it not time that we should discuss and investigate whether, upon any articles, it is not our wise and just policy to levy specific duties, to the end that honest revenue may be collected, and that we may have the great interests of the country protected?" [Applause.]

On the strength of speeches like this, Forney's Press intimates that Douglas approves of that bill of abominations, the Morrill Tariff bill. It seeks to gain votes for him in Pennsylvania on that ground, saying:

"When a great statesman like Judge Douglas makes a solemn declaration, believe him and take him at his word. No other American statesman will follow in Mr. Buchanan's wake, and treat his own solemn pledges as if they were made to be broken. Mr. Douglas is a Senator in Congress. If elected President, his late speeches favorable to Pennsylvania interests cannot be ignored, and should not be forgotten. If he is not elected President he is still a Senator. The Morrill Tariff bill passed the House by a decided majority at the last session. It will come up before the Senate early in the coming short session. It is undoubted that this measure, or some other project equally favorable to the interests of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and other States, could have been passed at the long session, but for the persistent opposition of the Administration Senators, who held to the party line of the administration."

This is a new character for Douglas to appear in, and we commend it to the scrutiny of his friends at the West and South.

Daniel Webster on Protection to Proprietary Territories.

"We have always gone up in the ground of these Territorial Governments were in a state of pauperism, under the protection of the General Government. The Territorial Legislatures had a Constitution prescribed by Congress. They have no power to make laws for their territories, and in the limits of the Constitution grant powers to Congress, or else their acts become void. The people under the Territorial Government are not a sovereign; they are not independent sovereigns. They are, if you please to denote it, a race of inchoate governments and sovereigns. If we well consider this question up in the ground of our practice during the last few years, we will find that we will have a dispensation of it. It will be necessary for the people of the Territories to Government to secure their property, to assign to them a subordinate legislative authority, to assign to them a subordinate judicial authority, and to assign to them a political power, and to assign to them a military power, all in regular proportion to their growth, and to maintain them in that state until they grow into sufficient importance, in point of population, to be admitted into the Union as a State in their own right, with all the rights and privileges of a State, to whom we will not be pledged for either Breckinridge or Douglas. These electors, if elected, will vote for the Democratic candidate who shall have proved himself the most popular man before the people in those States in which two Democratic tickets are run. The Democracy united (with a Bell and Everett ticket in the field, thereby drawing largely from the Republican forces) Lincoln will lose the State beyond peradventure."

JOHN C. CALHOUN.

Read what John C. Calhoun, the great champion of Southern rights under the Union, said:

"The assumption that the inhabitants of a Territory have the right of self-government is entirely unfounded, unconstitutional, and ultra-expatriate, and contrary to the entire practice of our Government from its commencement to the present time."—JOHN C. CALHOUN.

(For the Yeoman.)

SCOTT COUNTY, Ky., July 31, 1860.

Editor of the Yeoman: Knowing the interest of your reader, as well as you personally, take in the canvass, I drop you a line to report that all is right in one good old Democratic county of Scott. I have been a diligent observer, and inquirer into the condition of politics here, and I can safely promise that in the election to come off on Monday next we will come up fully to our majority. McCarty runs well, and will secure the votes of the few Douglas men almost to a unit. His claims to their support are irresistible—being now aided by the regular Convention called for the purpose, prior to the late division of the party.

The campaign has opened here, and is being vigorously prosecuted. George W. Johnson, Esq., our Elector, spoke in Georgetown, on Monday, and made a characteristic speech. He is a speaker of great force, and will do yeoman service.

He speaks, if I mistake not, in Frankfort, on Saturday next, when I wish that every Democrat of your county could hear him.

Capt. Simms spoke at Stamping Ground on yesterday, and at Eagle today, and I am told inside most excellent speeches. He is a speaker of fine ability, and makes remarkably well here. He speaks, I hear, to-morrow at Blue Lick Springs; next day in Montgomery, and towards the close of the week (Saturday), at Blue Knob, in your county.

J. Strother Johnson, Assistant Elector for your district, spoke at the same places with Capt. Simms, and has appointments in the county daily through the week. I hear his efforts spoken of in highly favorable terms. We are all wide awake here. Stir yourselves, and roll on the tall for Breckinridge and Lane.

N. NEW YORK.

The New York Journal of Commerce says: "From what we see and hear, we are inclined to believe that the Breckinridge vote in this city will not much exceed the Douglas vote, notwithstanding the latter has the endorsement of Tammany Hall and Mayor Wood. There are, doubtless, many Douglas men here, but we scarcely ever meet with one. Among the merchants there is an unprecedented degree of unanimity."

The Volunteer is a large and spirited Democratic paper just started in our city by C. E. L. Stuart, who recently retired from the editorship of the Daily News. It flies the flag of Breckinridge and Lane, and has letters from twenty counties reporting the old Hail Shells nearly all going the same way.

THE TELEGRAPHIC RETURNS RECEIVED HERE LAST NIGHT LOOK DECIDUALLY UNFAVORABLE TO THE DEMOCRACY. THEY ARE FROM POINTS, HOWEVER, WHERE WE EXPECTED HEAVY LOSSES. WE HAVE NOT SEEN ENOUGH YET TO FORM A CLEAR IDEA OF THE RESULT, BUT McCARTHY'S CHANCES ARE THE BEST, AND WE BELIEVE HE IS ELECTED BY A SCRATCH.

OUR TICKET.—The Opposition North and South delight to attribute the nomination of Mr. Breckinridge to the influence of Mr. Yancey. The records of the Convention show very conclusively that Mr. Breckinridge was not the choice of the Alabama delegation.

The medal is beautiful, upon one side bearing a correct Melanotype likeness of Mr. Breckinridge, and upon the other that of General Lane. Specimens may be obtained by sending to Messrs. [From the New York Evening Post.]

Douglas on a New Dodge.

The peripatetic candidate for the Presidency obeys the Scripture in one respect, he becomes all things to all men and that he may gain some. When he was in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, for instance, he was marvellously troubled about "the interests" of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and said it was a shame that Congress had refused to protect these interests. As for himself, he was decidedly in favor of a high ad valorem protective tariff. He remarked:

"Now, I suppose there are none of us who are not satisfied that, on the subject of the tariff, there ought to be material changes. How is it? The collectors of your ports are becoming rich; your government is becoming poor. Is it not time that we should establish a home valuation upon every article that is brought into the country, so that we may prevent fraud? Is it not time that we should discuss and investigate whether, upon any articles, it is not our wise and just policy to levy specific duties, to the end that honest revenue may be collected, and that we may have the great interests of the country protected?" [Applause.]

Now, I suppose there are none of us who are not satisfied that, on the subject of the tariff, there ought to be material changes. How is it? The collectors of your ports are becoming rich; your government is becoming poor. Is it not time that we should establish a home valuation upon every article that is brought into the country, so that we may prevent fraud? Is it not time that we should discuss and investigate whether, upon any articles, it is not our wise and just policy to levy specific duties, to the end that honest revenue may be collected, and that we may have the great interests of the country protected?"
